

The threat BPL poses to the shortwave spectrum outweighs any potential benefits of increased broadband access. Now, with the spectre of terrorist strikes, we need, more than ever, to be able to communicate from coast to coast without infrastructure.